THere may be some Teachers, who readily may not take up the following Method and Art of Teaching of Children to Read. The Author is willing to impart the same to the Ingenious Instructor, and when he understands that he may be able by this Plot to teach three Scholars for one he taught before, he will make it his Work to attain to the true Pronunciation of the Alphabets, the diverse kinds of Consonants, Dipthongs, and Fractions of Syllables, Yea, and heartily thank his Countrey-Man, and very humble Servant,
